DocuWare Turns iPhone and iPad into Scanner

Free Mobile Scanning

New Windsor NY, – September 17, 2013 – PaperScan, a free app by DocuWare, is now available for turning an iPhone or iPad into a document scanner. DocuWare, a global leader in the field of document management, developed PaperScan to conveniently bring order to paper clutter.

Scanned documents need to be of a high quality for further processing. At the same time, they need to be captured in a small size and familiar format, so that they can be easily printed, integrated into office workflows or shared. Using a smartphone as a scanner is an ideal option for anyone who needs to scan receipts, business cards, or letters, whether in the office, at home or while traveling. DocuWare is now offering PaperScan for this type of mobile use.

Using PaperScan is simple: aim a smartphone or tablet over the paper; the device automatically captures the image, cuts it to size, and creates a perfect PDF file. Thanks to the high scan quality, documents can then be automatically stored using DocuWare's Intelligent Indexing Service.

PaperScan isn't only for use with DocuWare solutions. The PDF documents generated can also be used with Dropbox. Application possibilities are endless.

For comfort and scan quality, DocuWare developed special processor techniques and the patents are pending. PaperScan is now available as a free download (search one word: paperscan) for iPhone version 4 and up and iPad. To learn more go to: http://paperscanapp.com. An Android version will follow by year's end.
